

LAS VEGAS
REVIEW-JOURNAL

TASTE Preparing some dishes in advance can help you enjoy Thanksgiving 1D ►

SPORTS Golden Knights’ road woes continue with 8-2 loss to Edmonton Oilers 1C

WEDNESDAY
November 15, 2017
$1.50

MUSTREADS

Las Vegas Review-Journal

- An annual event (above) gives homeless people help finding work, clothing and a place to stay. 1B
- A group submitted enough signatures to advance efforts to recall state Sen. Nicole Cannizzaro. 1B
- President Donald Trump’s budget chief said budgeting money for the Yucca Mountain waste dump site was his idea. 4A
- Senate Republicans want to repeal the ACA individual mandate as part of the tax reform bill. 4A
- Attorney General Jeff Sessions denied lying about the Trump campaign’s contacts with Russia. 4A
- The House will require all members and their staffs to undergo anti-harassment training. 2A
- The LVCVA board approved a designer for its convention center project. 10B
- The Mecum collector-car auction is rolling into Las Vegas. 10B
- IGT shares jumped after third-quarter results beat expectations. 9B
- José Luis Sánchez Solá was introduced as the first Las Vegas Lights FC coach. 1C
- Practice paid off as the Lady Rebels beat UC Irvine. 1C
- A two-chef San Francisco team won a Vegas competition to represent the U.S. in the international Bocuse d’Or contest. 1D
- UNLV senior point guard Jordan Johnson is happy to be back on the court. 4C
- An analysis says a rising teen suicide rate may be linked to social media use. 10A
- Fidget spinners and a Spider-Man drone made an annual list of unsafe toys. 10A
- An Ohio inmate will get a pillow to help him breathe as he is executed. 10A
- Theresa May’s government battled to push the central piece of Brexit legislation through a divided Parliament. 12A
- Iran is investigating why government housing collapsed in an earthquake. 12A
- The Saudi-led coalition bombed the airport in Yemen’s rebel-held capital. 12A
- Zimbabwe’s military seized power but said President Robert Mugabe and his family were “safe and sound.” 13A

Raiders talking to Henderson

‘Worst-kept secret’: City may be home to team’s practice facility

By Michael Scott Davidson
Las Vegas Review-Journal

The Raiders are in negotiations to build their Southern Nevada practice facility on a vacant 55-acre lot west of the Henderson Executive Airport, Mayor Debra March told the Las Vegas Review-Journal on Tuesday. “We’re in conversations with them at this time,” March said.

The city acquired the property, which is near the southwest corner of St. Rose Parkway and Executive Airport Drive, in January 2015 through a land swap with Greystone Nevada LLC. Clark County Commission Chairman Steve Sisolak, who has been working closely with the Raiders, said the team is serious about the location. “The best of my understanding is that they have narrowed it down to that site,” he said. Raiders President Marc Badain declined to comment Tuesday, but said details about the team’s practice facility and headquarters site should be made public before the end of the year. “We are looking at a number of locations,” he told the Review-Journal on Monday at a groundbreaking ceremony for the stadium. “We should have an announcement hopefully in the next four to six weeks on one potential option. It’s probably the worst-kept secret out here.” March said the practice facility could bring 300 jobs to Henderson. “That’s certainly an opportunity for any community to

See RAIDERS 14A

Chase Stevens Las Vegas Review-Journal @csstevensphoto

Ryan Bundy, son of Nevada rancher Cliven Bundy, leaves the Lloyd George U.S. Courthouse with his wife, Angela, on Tuesday. Opening statements were delivered in the trial for Cliven Bundy, sons Ammon and Ryan, and militia organizer Ryan Payne.

Cliven Bundy’s trial opens

Attorney says rancher tried to settle public land use dispute peacefully

By David Ferrara
Las Vegas Review-Journal

Cliven Bundy spent decades trying to negotiate peacefully with federal authorities before an armed standoff broke out in Bunkerville, his lawyer told jurors Tuesday during opening statements in a conspiracy trial for the recalcitrant Gold Butte rancher and three others. In the early 1990s, when Bundy started protesting against the Bureau of Land Management, he was one of about 50 ranchers in Clark County, attorney Bret Whipple said. “But because of BLM involvement, they’ve all been run off the range,” the lawyer said. He pointed at Bundy, the remaining “active rancher,” seated in a red jail jumpsuit in a section of a federal courtroom alongside two of his sons and an independent militia organizer, each facing decades behind bars.

See BUNDY 14A

“They threatened, they intimidated and they interfered.”

Steven Myhre
Acting U.S. attorney

Man kills four, injures 10 in small California town

By Don Thompson and Paul Elias
The Associated Press

RANCHO TEHAMA RESERVE, Calif. — A gunman driving stolen vehicles and choosing his targets at random opened fire “without provocation” in a tiny rural Northern California town Tuesday, killing four people and wounding at least 10 others, including a student at an elementary school, before police shot him dead, authorities said. The gunfire began shortly before 8 a.m. in the rural community of Rancho Tehama Reserve, a homeowners

Jim Schultz The Record Searchlight
Crime tape blocks a road into the Rancho Tehama subdivision near Red Bluff, Calif., after a shooting Tuesday.

Shooting spurs change in Boyd’s hotel policy

48-hour limit put on privacy requests

By Todd Prince
Las Vegas Review-Journal

Boyd Gaming Corp. is informing guests at all its properties that hotel personnel will enter a room if a “Do Not Disturb” sign is left on a door for more than 48 hours. The change comes after Mandalay Bay guest Stephen Paddock kept housekeeping out of his room for about three days, enabling him to convert the suite into his personal armory with 23 guns. Paddock used them to spray

#VEGASSTRONG

- Jason Aldean gave his first interview since the Route 91 Harvest festival shooting. ► Page 6A
- An Ohio artist brought his portrait of Charleston Hartfield to Metro headquarters. ► Page 6A
- The Senate Judiciary Committee postponed a hearing on bump stocks until December. ► Page 6A gunfire onto a nearby crowd Oct. 1, killing 58 people. “We are advising people upon check-in that we will

See SHOOTING 7A

Partly Cloudy
74 57

Business	10B	Politics	4A
Comics	6D	Puzzles	7D
Movies	4D	Taste	1D
Nation	10A	Television	5D
Nevada	1B	Weather	15A
Opinion	6B	World	12A

©2017
LAS VEGAS
REVIEW-JOURNAL
Volume 113, Number 229

